FULL STACK SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT LOGITRAVELGROUP

In my time in Logitravel I had an intermediate role, working directly with the product owner to meet the client needs. I worked with the packaged travels team, in which the main products are different services (as cruises, flights, tours...) offered all together as a package. This is disruptive, as Logitravel is the only digital tour operator that can offer packaged services such as these online, without almost any human interaction. To achieve this we had to integrate external and internal services to enrich our products.

- Integration of internal and external services in our product chain.
- Develop and mantain our services.
- Task planning and analyzing with the product owner and the scrum master.
- Giving support to other junior developer in the team.
